Who: Jacqueline Murekatete, human rights activist and Rwandan genocide survivor

When: Tuesday, August 6, 2007, 12:30PM to 2:00PM

Where: Musikfest Dankeplatz (located near Riverplace on River Street, Sand Island, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania)

What: Jacqueline Murekatete will share her story of Rwanda—past, present and her hope for the future. Ms. Murekatete is internationally recognized for her work as a youth leader and humanitarian, speaking out for victims and survivors of genocide. Born in Rwanda in 1984, Jacqueline survived the loss of her immediate and extended family in the genocide. She is now a global advocate for human rights who informs and inspires people around the world to remember, to fight indifference and to coexist.

Why: Jacqueline's appearance and presentation reinforces the 2007 Musikfest theme: "One World, Many Rhythms" with an added dimension.

A full biography and detailed background information is available on request.

Jacqueline Murekatete will be available for media interviews following her presentation.
